The Academy of Choice is looking for teachers who:

- Believe they can provide a personalized learning experience for every student, resulting in high levels of learning
- Believe in hands-on, project-based teaching and learning that incorporates real-world application and results in students being prepared for post-secondary endeavors
- Integrate technology into teaching and learning
- Believe teachers are accountable for student learning
- Are highly motivated to work with at-risk students
- Consistently convey high expectations for appropriate behavior and academic growth for all students
- Believe that all people deserve to be treated with dignity and respect
- Work collaboratively with team members to provide a high quality education for all students
- Display high energy, initiative, creativity, and a passion for seeing students learn
- Value on-going professional development

Other qualities/qualifications that will be beneficial for teachers at The Academy of Choice include:

- Certification in multiple content areas
- Experience with a learning management system and/or online courses
- Experience teaching more than one level of course, or more than one course, within the same class
- Teaching integrated lessons (such as integration of Math/Science or ELA/Social Studies)

The Academy of Choice offers teachers:

- The opportunity to be part of an exciting start-up program, building the instructional program in a way that best meets the needs of students
- Small classes that provide ideal learning environments for project-based learning
- Access to technology for teachers and students
- The chance to teach in highly creative ways, with flexible schedules that reflect teacher decisions about how instructional time is best utilized
- The opportunity to work in a non-traditional program, with a choice of teaching schedules
- On-going professional development, including (but not limited to) Love and Logic techniques, the ANGEL learning management system, curriculum integration, and technology integration
- Additional summer work days, with compensation, for planning and preparation
- A working environment that values the role teachers play in student success
- The chance positively impact high school students every day
