Academic Regalia

The graduation rites and academic dress of today reflect ancient and honorable customs which date back to the mid-12th Century. The University of Bologna is credited with the first degree ceremonies followed in Paris then Oxford and Cambridge. At that time the literate class was the clergy; therefore the early academic costume was that of the church. Heavy gowns, hoods and caps were worn at all times, especially during cold European winters.

The oldest American university is Harvard which was founded in 1636. The practice of wearing distinguishing scholarly costumes continued there and has been practiced in most American universities since. In 1893 Princeton University organized an intercollegiate system of academic costume. From this the Intercollegiate Bureau of Academic Costume was formed and an academic code developed. In 1932 the American Council on Education formed a committee to examine the code. No significant changes developed. The code was reviewed in 1959 and a few changes were made in matters pertaining to degrees and institutions.

The accepted practice of wearing gowns and square caps at high school graduation ceremonies began in 1908. These are usually black or school colors.

Each institution of higher learning may establish its own system of academic regalia. Most adhere to the Academic Costume Code which identifies institutions awarding degrees, the nature of the degrees, and the faculties awarding them. The "Oxford cap" with a stiff crown is worn for most degrees. The tassel which hangs down the left side is black for bachelors and masters and gold for doctors. The greatest degree of symbolism is shown in the hood.

The bachelor's gown is always black. It has long pointed sleeves and is worn closed. Both the square cap and its tassel are black. The hood, which indicates the faculty in which the degree is earned and the institution conferring it, is rarely worn. The master's gown is black and is usually worn open. The long pointed sleeves are closed and hang down from the elbow. The hood is black and is lined with the colors of the institution conferring the degree. The doctor's gown is usually black. It is worn both open and closed. On each sleeve there are three horizontal velvet bars. A gold tassel hangs from the square cap. The hood, which identifies both faculty and school, is four feet long.
